PROGRAM REPORT

Report of Training session for Non-Teaching Faculty on “Adaptability and Confidence”

An Administrative Development Program was conducted on 13/08/2018 for Non-Teaching Faculty of Samata College on “Adaptability and Confidence”.

The Objective of the program is to knowledge and train the non-teaching faculty about Being Adaptable and confident. Which supports with the following.

- Embrace a growth mindset: Adopt a belief that your abilities and skills can be developed through effort and experience. Embracing a growth mindset allows you to approach new challenges with curiosity and a willingness to learn.
- Seek diverse experiences: Expose yourself to different perspectives, cultures, and environments. Engage in activities that stretch your comfort zone and encourage you to adapt to new situations. This broadens your adaptability by expanding your range of experiences.
- Practice flexibility: Be open to change and willing to adjust your plans or approaches when necessary. Cultivate the ability to adapt your strategies and perspectives based on evolving circumstances.
- Develop resilience: Build your resilience by strengthening your ability to bounce back from setbacks and adversity. Resilience helps you navigate unexpected changes with greater ease and maintain a positive outlook.
- Continuously learn and up-skill: Stay curious and committed to lifelong learning. Acquire new knowledge, learn new skills, and stay updated with industry trends. This proactive approach keeps you agile and adaptable in the face of change.
- Build a strong support network: Surround yourself with supportive and like-minded individuals who encourage growth and adaptation. Collaborate with others to exchange ideas, share experiences, and learn from their perspectives.

Objective

To reveal the significance of mathematics in science & technology for development. The areas like advanced semi-conductor devices, bio-technology, digital image technology, Nano-technology, artificial satellites, and rockets all are based on mathematical concepts.

Mathematics is an intrinsic component of science, part of its fabric. Its universal language and indispensable source of intellectual tools. Reciprocally, science inspires and stimulates mathematics, posing new questions, engendering new ways of thinking, and ultimately conditioning the value system of mathematics

Name of the Program: A One Week Faculty Development Programme (FDP) on “Mathematics and Its Applications in Science & Technology”

Organized by: Samata Degree College

Date: 18/02/2019 to 23/02/2019

Resource Person:

- Ms. Adi Lakshmi, M.Sc;
 - Lecturer, Prism College;
- Contact number: 9000661802;
- mail id: adilakshmi.bujju@gmail.com

Objective:

To reveal the significance of mathematics in science & technology for development. The areas like advanced semi-conductor devices, bio-technology, digital image technology, Nano-technology, artificial satellites, and rockets all are based on mathematical concepts.

Mathematics is an intrinsic component of science, part of its fabric, its universal language and indispensable source of intellectual tools. Reciprocally, science inspires and stimulates mathematics, posing new questions, engendering new ways of thinking, and ultimately conditioning the value system of mathematics

About the FDP:

A one-week Faculty Development Programme was organized on “Mathematics and Its Applications in Science & Technology” from 18th Feb 2019 to 23rd Feb 2019 in the Seminar Hall, Samata college. The Faculty Development Programme (FDP) intends to spread awareness about the importance of Maths. Math is essential for science and helps us understand the world. From ancient times, mathematicians and scientists have collaborated to shed light on the mysteries of the universe. By using numbers and equations to explain complex ideas and relationships, math has become a vital tool for making predictions and coming up with new theories in fields like physics, chemistry, biology, engineering, and computer science.

Outcome:

Strong ties between mathematics and the sciences exist and are thriving, but there need to be many more. To enhance scientific progress, such connections should become pervasive, and it is sound scientific policy to foster them actively.

PROGRAM REPORT

Name of the Program: A One Week Faculty Development Programme (FDP) on "Data Base Management System"

Organized by: Samata Degree College

Date: 25/06/2018 to 30/06/2018

Resource Person:

- Mr. L. Raja Umesh;
- Senior Trainer;
- Contact number: 9874562158;
- mail id: rajaumesh.23@gmail.com;

Objective:

The objective of this faculty development programme is to spread the knowledge of DBMS because DBMS is so fundamental that all companies dealing with systems as well as application development (including web, IoT, embedded systems, data mining, machine learning) have a need for the same.

About the FDP:

A one-week Faculty Development Programme was organized on "DBMS" from 25th June to 30th June in the Seminar Hall, Samata college. Databases form the backbone of all major applications today – tightly or loosely coupled, intranet or internet based, financial, social, administrative, and so on. Structured Database Management Systems (DBMS) based on relational and other models have long formed the basis for such databases. Consequently, Oracle, Microsoft SQL Server, Sybase etc. have emerged as leading commercial systems while MySQL, PostgreSQL etc. lead in open source and free domain.

focus on quality through education

While DBMSs differ in the details, they share a common set of models, design paradigms and a Structured Query Language (SQL). In this background the course examines data structures, file organizations, concepts and principles of DBMS's, data analysis, database design, data modelling, database management, data & query optimization, and database implementation. More specifically, the course introduces relational data models; entity-relationship modelling, SQL, data normalization, and database design. Further it introduces query coding practices using MySQL (or any other open system) through various assignments. Design of simple multi-tier client / server architectures based and Web-based database applications is also introduced.

Outcome:

- Understand the basic concepts of database management systems.
- Apply SQL to find solutions to a broad range of queries.
- Apply normalization techniques to improve database design.
- Analyse a given database application scenario to use ER model for conceptual design of the database.
